

Foundations of Public Health

Foundations of Public Health Certificate

This basic introductory certificate provides foundational knowledge for public health workers with limited formal education or training in public health. These courses are offered via distance learning (self-paced, online course format). The certificate is sponsored by the Empire State Public Health Training Center in partnership with the School of Public Health. It does not offer academic credit.

Who should register?

Public health employees in local health departments and the NYS Department of Health are eligible to participate with permission from their supervisor.

What are the requirements and costs?

Participants must register for the certificate and complete requirements as laid out in the course curriculum. Instruction and materials are provided at no charge.

When can I register?

Now! Please visit <http://www.foundationsofph.org> or the NYS Department of Health Learning Management System and select Foundations of Public Health Certificate Program.

Are you a Nurse?

Then you should check out Public Health Nurse Ready (PHN Ready), an online certificate program featuring FREE courses designed to enhance the skills of RNs and LPNs working in public health.

For more information about PHN Ready, please visit: www.EmpireStatePHTC.org.

Have questions? Please go to:

www.EmpireStatePHTC.org

or call 518-402-0330